

S U S A N

B L O N D

I N C

April 17, 2009

Good Deed Friday: Volunteer!

Next week is National Volunteer Week. No plans? Watch this wonderful short video from the Hands On Network and get inspired.

If you live in NYC, check out Learning Leaders, a nonprofit that provides tutoring and other support to over over 800 schools citywide. They're kicking off the week with Read Out! at the Vivian Beaumont Theater at Lincoln Center on Monday at 10:30 am. Celebs, educators and noted children's book authors will read their favorite passages to an audience of 1,000 fourth graders. Readers include Sonia Manzano (Maria from Sesame Street), Charles Osgood, Al Roker, Verone Kennedy (noted NYC educator), and Caroline Kennedy. Events will be going strong at 300 schools through week's end. Go to learningleaders.org for the details.